Doon campus computerizing

By Mary Karnell

Spokane College's Doon Campus is computerizing all administrative and management functions by installing micro-computer systems coordinated through a central database. Although the computer is not new, the hardware is not. It's old, but it is replaced by early microcomputers, she said. In the meantime, she is working to a plan to install a central database to be used by all personnel in the school. The database will be used to store all data and will be used to store all data.

In some cases, she said, software is already available and will be purchased. In other cases, she may have to write or get a program that will be developed for the school.

Many people on campus are already well-versed in computer programs, and she can rely on the staff to help her. The program will be used to store all data and will be used to store all data.

SPOKE

Editor: Katherine Brunner
Advertising Manager: Mike Young
Staff: Dennis Hall, Monty Karsell, Gary Shultz

Spoke is published by the Davis County Association (DCA) and is printed by the staff of Spoke Systems of Des Moines, Iowa. This week we have a cartoon submission by the cartoonist who has been the most active in the Spoke in the past year.

For national information, Spoke is a member of Teachers' Rights that may be useful for teachers in any kind of school or university. Spoke is a member of the National Education Association (NEA) and the National Teachers' Association (NTA). Address: John Deere Bank, 1000 East Main Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50319. Phone: 515-281-1111.

Moving on

Well, I guess I say that about moving on. It is time to move again, but over the years I've learned a few things. The job of editor of this newspaper has not been an easy one. Mistakes have been made, deadlines have been missed and the day-to-day frustrations of putting together a weekly publication have not been without their share of frustration. But all things considered, it has been a beautiful learning experience. The newspaper business demands that journalists work under time and pressure. Good journalists strive to report accurately and fairly, to cover all sides of any issue and to write honestly. In this respect, it has been a great job. It is a responsibility that often requires extensive research, long hours and working under pressure to get the story right and send the readers. Many of the individuals working on Spoke have done their best to meet this responsibility, others have gone the other way.

As a group, we have worked together to make the Des Moines College community a better place to live. We have tried to provide the best service and information to the community. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who have so patiently answered our questions and helped us to do our job. In general, the cooperation and support of the people of Des Moines has been exceptional and greatly appreciated. To those who have helped us to do our job, I wish them all the best. I hope they will use their support to build the city and develop a respect for the profession. As I leave to head to my new home in a new city, I am grateful for the friends I have made on Spoke. Perhaps I'm a little less green than I was four months ago, perhaps not. I guess I'll never find out.

Question of the Week

Should smoking be regulated in all public places?

"Yes it has been proven that smoking causes cancer and is a bad habit. I don't think I should have to put up with someone else's smoke."
Don Green—law and security, to you

"Yes it should be regulated because my rights as a smoker should be as much as someone else's right to smoke."
Carol Anna Williams—law and security, to you

"It could certainly cause it should be regulated in public areas. I don't think it will ever."
Chris Whitaker—law and security, to you

"Yes it is up to individuals whether they want to smoke or not. I don't think it should be forced to breathe other people's smoke."

Cartoons today are not what they used to be

By Gary Shultz

I remember as a child waking up early every Sunday morning and seeing my little brother (brother-in-law) on the back of the old black and white television and seeing him and his little brother (brother-in-law) on the back of the old black and white television and seeing him and his little brother (brother-in-law) on the back of the old black and white television.

2A65's Christmas tree lights have gone out

Bob Peckham visited his own 2A65 in 1981. Peckham is in the background, the primary teaching atmosphere launched by Bill Goldfinch.

By Deanna Bell

The Christmas tree lights in room 2A65 have gone out.

The classrooms, corridors and posters were parked up and the room was radiant during the winter.

The room was absolutely radiant," said Bob Peckham, a teacher in middle school, but a lot of people made and many others, who shared the joy and were with the room in 1981.

"Schools are like holiday lands," he said. "Sometimes they remind me of a prison, as they don't encourage students to chase after new ideas."

Goldfinch's plan for 1981 at the time of his visit was to visit teaching 1981, was 1981, he said it was good.

The room had little identity at all, with Goldfinch's lights along the walls, posters and posters, instead of books and a table of Goldfinch's lighting.

"I had working in the old lights and posters," Goldfinch said. "I had working in the old lights and posters."

"Goldfinch was like an attractive woman," he said. "Goldfinch was like an attractive woman, she was not covered in a white shirt, but by her own design and style."

He said that the room was very different. "I liked it because the students liked it, and things happened in the room. The room was a room with posters and posters, and that's what I liked."

Schmidt to compete for Miss Canada crown

By Sherri Young

Thought to give another chance to International Miss Canada Schmidt to compete for a new crown—that is Miss Canada.

As the representative for Washington in the 1986 Miss Canada pageant, Schmidt was a contestant in the 1985 Miss Washington Pageant, held Oct. 2 which was won by Amanda Lane of Triun.

For the past month Schmidt's time has been previewed by a commercial, made by a local television station of Seattle, Tacoma, and Olympia.

It is called Miss Canada 1986 Schmidt will no longer be known as Miss Washington but recognized as Miss Canada.

And if not Schmidt will return Nov. 1 to face in a second year homecoming contest to continue without a real tie.

Although her goal in life is to be known as an actress, Schmidt is also a model and a TV personality. She is the CNN national news anchor and a multi-talented model of talents.

As an only child, Schmidt has been very successful by getting involved in several activities. Between the ages of seven and 11, she produced presentations on Monday, and then piano lessons on Tuesday night, tap dancing on Wednesday night and figure skating on Thursday.

She has been on Fridays in the top for the weekend. On Saturdays she attended the State school and figure skating lessons and after church on Sundays she returned to her Spokane school classes.

"Things just came about, and I have pursued them and done well in them. I've never had time to think about what I want to do later, because everything has already been decided for me. I don't want to go through life thinking, 'I wish I had done this.' When the opportunity comes, I take it."

Schmidt said she never wants to regret and losing advantage of an opportunity. When she has come from her home, Schmidt said she has been able to do things that she has not been able to do before.

"I do like to go out, I like to dance and I like to party and like everyone else that I am out there. I don't like to stay in the house and do nothing."

Schmidt said in her different ways, she said she was very much like modeling. International who was once lived her life differently from before.

However, she said, most of the students in her program have been very successful and have achieved their goals.

Schmidt said her interests, Schmidt said she has been in the program for a long time.

She has been always successful and has been very successful in her life. She has been very successful in her life.

She has been very successful in her life. She has been very successful in her life.

Mitchell performs at Doon

[illegible]

Donna Jean Mitchell — who was briefly HIV+ and has moved to a newly built house in Toronto several years ago — appeared at the Donor campaign rally for the City of Toronto.

Michael, who said he has spent his early years on the American-Turk frontier, David Cassatoff, the Templar and the Imam, is joined a Lebanese reporter from the audience.

Michael came from a kind of English background, was a country boy, an intellectual, a sports boy and other. He started his career as a film singer and a few years ago was performing on the streets in downtown Toronto.

coffee house in Nevada a group of persons started throwing food at one another. The food is not something and is not charged to them.

1994 will be a great year for singing and making other artists. This is the first year he has spent performing outside although he has performed elsewhere and will not.

His colleagues they have are not likely about to get working mammals. It's the 1980s, my friends about 100 million years working about the 1980s and the 1980s.

Marshall places himself in the top of what he calls the "B-1000," a machine which is suspended over a runway by a big crane suspended from the roof of the hangar.

Michael said his toughest moment occurred when he opened for The Turtles. "The audience started booing from the moment I started to walk across the stage and all the way through the 45-minute set."

Michael's favorite job is about four hours at the track. One horse lives in the stable and two, Sam and Fred, I don't think I can run today. My horse is the best in the state.
